Iola Woman Found Dead

Mrs. John Lang's Body Seen Floating In Loon Lake Friday

WAUPACA — 3 43-year-old Iola woman became the state's possible first drowning victim of the weekend and Waupaca County's third of the year Friday when she was found floating face down in Loon Lake.

Mrs. John Lang, along with her husband and 9-year-old daughter, went to the lake 5½ miles northeast of Iola about 7 p.m.

While Lang and the little girl picked berries, Mrs. Lang remained at the lake. When the father and daughter returned to the lake an hour later, they saw Mrs. Lang in the water.

Unable to swim, Lang ran to a nearby home and summoned help.

Marvin Look, Milwaukee, returned to the lake with Lang, dove into the water and retrieved the body. Both Lang and Look administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, but it was unsuccessful.

Unsuccessful Attempts
The Boie Ambulance Service and Dr. Charles Wood, of Iola, were called and further, but unsuccessful, attempts to revive Mrs. Lang were made.

Because Mrs. Lang was floating in the water, Waupaca County Coroner Dr. Sam Salan has ordered an autopsy to determine exact cause of death. It is expected to be performed today by an Appleton pathologist.

Lang and his family moved to the Iola area from Chicago June 5. Mrs. Lang was wearing a swimming suit, but her husband said she had not gone swimming in more than 20 years.

Khanh Denies War Statements

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Khanh, apparently under U.S. pressure, has repudiated his statements calling for aggression into North Viet Nam. Khanh said Friday the South Vietnamese people "can no longer tolerate the inhuman massacre of their fellow citizens by the Communists." But he added that his policy "does not for the moment mean we must send our troops to strike North Viet Nam."

Recent government communiques have charged involvement by regular North Vietnamese troops in the guerrilla action in the south.

The United States opposes strikes into North Viet Nam for the present and U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor reportedly has been pressing Khanh to tone down his "back to the north" statements.

Venus de Milo Sent Back by Japanese

MARSEILLE, France (AP) — The Venus de Milo returned to France today after a visit to Japan.

The famed armless statue was protected in a specially built traveling case which was carefully stowed in the hold of the liner Cambridge.

The Venus de Milo is expected back in Paris Tuesday to take her familiar place in the Louvre museum. She left for Japan March 22, and was shown in Tokyo and Kyoto.

Few Spaceships' Changes Needed to Land on Moon

When U. S. Astronauts land on the moon, this is the sight that may greet them. The picture was taken by Ranger 7 from an altitude of 470 miles. The smallest craters are about 800 feet in diameter, but the largest

Pictures Via Ranger 7 1,000 Times Better Than Any Previously, Experts Say

BY RALPH DIGHTON

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Historic pictures taken by Ranger 7 are pretty good evidence that men can land on the moon without much change required for spaceships now being designed. That's the consensus of a board of scientists who Friday night released 10 of the 4,316 sensational photographs Ranger 7 snapped in the final 16 minutes and 40 seconds before it crashed on the moon at 8:25 a.m. (EST) Friday morning.

The first close-up pictures ever taken of the moon — termed 1,000 times better than any made heretofore from spacecraft or with earth telescopes — showed that even its vast, apparently smooth "seas" are pocked with craters, some as small as dishpans.

Layers of Dust Possible
There may be some dust on the moon, in layers up to a foot thick, but not deep enough to bury a landing vehicle, the scientists concluded. And, underneath the dust, evidence indicates, is a hard primary layer. Whether it would support the weight of a large manned spaceship cannot be determined from photographs alone.

To these conclusions announced after several hours study Friday night, additional evaluations will be added today at a presidential press conference.

No Big Problems
At Friday's news conference where slides of the historic moon pictures were shown, Dr. Gerard Kuiper, of the Lunar and Planetary Laboratory of the University of Arizona, said the most significant thing about them is that they reveal no unanticipated problems to be met in the design of moon landings.

At least part of the area photographed by Ranger 7 — a northern extension of the Sea of Clouds southwest of the center of the face of the moon — would be unsuitable for landing because of the large number of small craters, Kuiper said.

Viet Nam Rejects French Protests
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Vietnamese government has rejected French protests over destruction of a French war memorial by students opposed to President Charles de Gaulle's proposal to neutralize this former French colony.

The students' action is nothing more than the outcome of the strong position they took at a time when the French chief of state had reiterated his support for the neutralization of Viet Nam, the foreign minister said in a note to the French Embassy.

"This policy is considered by the mass of Vietnamese to be contrary to the higher interests of the country," it added.

Defector Disappears
Embassy, Burundi in Clash Over Diplomat

BUJUMBURA, Burundi (AP) — Embassy in a taxi cab, wearing the U.S. flag and a white under-shirt and asked for asylum. Tung, 24, said he wanted to go to the United States. He was given refuge and assigned a room in the embassy. But he vanished from the building Wednesday.

An embassy spokesman said the building is locked every night and no one saw Tung leave. But, he added, keys were available inside and Tung probably let himself out.

The spokesman said Tung gave no indication that he might be "sometimes got a little despondent." The source said the embassy had no knowledge of Tung's whereabouts.

Krupp Wins New Delay On Selling Holdings
BONN (AP) — The Krupp industrial empire has won another year's delay of an order to sell half its holdings as a penalty for using slave labor in World War II.

Alfred Krupp, in prison for eight years because his firm had used slave labor, regained his vast iron-steel-coal complex on condition that half be sold. Krupp has claimed there are no buyers for the property.

5 Killed in State Traffic

3 Die in Collision, 2 When Automobile Crashes Into Bridge

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three persons were killed early today in a collision in Jefferson County and two died in a Jackson County accident Friday night, bringing Wisconsin's highway toll for 1964 to 597. The total was 463 on this date a year ago.

Victims of a head-on collision on Highway 18 about six miles west of Jefferson were Gerald Shannon, 30, of Jefferson, alone in one car; Kenneth Heger's car was attempting to pass a circus truck when it collided with the Shannon auto. One of the cars then struck the truck, which had Alabama license plates. The truck driver was not injured. The accident occurred at 12:28 a.m.

Lee Roy Millard, 18, and Dale Brushafer, 16, both of rural Melton, were killed.

New York Mayor Refuses to Create Police Review Board

Harlem Leader Says He Can't Guarantee End to Violence

NEW YORK (AP) — The head of a Harlem unity committee says he can't guarantee peace there in the face of Mayor Robert F. Wagner's refusal to create an independent police review board.

Wagner rejected the demand Friday in a long statement, his first since the end of talks with Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta that began late Monday night.

And Wagner made no mention of the other major demand of New York City's Negro leaders — immediate suspension of Lt. Thomas R. Gilligan, a white policeman who shot and killed a Negro boy.

Can't Guarantee Peace
L. Joseph Overton, acting chairman of the Unity Council of Harlem Organizations, said:

"He (Wagner) has made it virtually impossible for me to guarantee continued peace on the streets of Harlem."

In another development, police lifted a ban on demonstrations in Harlem and in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn. But even before the announcement, black nationalist groups scheduled a rally for tonight at a street corner in Harlem's heart.

Two weekends ago, racial rioting broke out in the two Negro sections after demonstrations protesting alleged police brutality. One Negro was killed and scores were injured in five days of disorders.

Boards Being Studied
King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said in Atlanta Friday night he was "very sorry" Wagner had not ordered creation of a civilian board to review charges of police brutality.

Wagner noted in his statement that a city council committee is studying such boards in other cities.

He also proposed a seven-point program that called for the creation of more jobs for unemployed young people and an increase in state and federal aid against poverty.

James Lawson, president of the United African Nationalist Movement, who earlier had defied the police ban on demonstrations, called for the rally.

He said he spoke for 17 black nationalist groups.

500 Persons Join Search for Famed Singer and Piano Player Believed Victims of Plane Crash

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — established radio and radar contact with the plane about 6 p.m. (EST) Friday, when the pilot, Reeves and piano player Dean

Reeves was missing today and believed to have crashed Friday just outside Nashville.

The search is centering on a hilly, heavily wooded area near the Vanderbilt University observatory on the edge of the city. Officers said residents in the area reported hearing the roar of a plane about the time the tower lost contact.

"I heard the plane's engine splutter out and then I heard a thump," said John Moran.

Serial numbers checks, officers said, apparently confirm that the missing plane is the Reeves plane.

Reeves starred in a movie, "Kimberly Jim," just released in this country. The movie was filmed in South Africa, where Reeves has become a singing idol in the past two years.

With the Grand Ole Opry until last October, Reeves rose to fame with such hits as "Four Walls," "He'll Have to Go," and "Mexican Joe."

Made World Tour
A former pitcher in the St. Louis Cardinals farm system, Reeves was an outstanding athlete at the University of Texas.

He owned two music publishing firms and two radio stations.

Manuel is a long-time member of Reeves' band, the Blue II.

Alfred Krupp, in prison for eight years because his firm had used slave labor, regained his vast iron-steel-coal complex on condition that half be sold.

Krupp has claimed there are no buyers for the property.

Pope Prays for Peace in Congolese Situation
CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — Pope Paul VI has expressed concern over the situation in the Congo. The pontiff told a group of Congolese students Friday he was praying that harmony might be established in the African nation.

The control tower said it had lost contact with the plane.

They were apparently on a flight from Batesville, Ark., to Nashville — the international center of country and Western music.

World Lauds Success of Lunar Photos

Soviets Quick to Point Out They Took First Pictures

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

America's Ranger 7 moon shot drew worldwide praise today, including compliments from the Russians who were quick to point out that they snapped the first lunar photographs five years ago.

Some British newspapers said the shot put the United States ahead of the Soviet Union in the space race. Most of the world press hailed it as one of the great advances in lunar astronomy, without reference to competition between the two major powers.

Soviet Comment
News that the United States had the first close-up pictures of the moon won front-page headlines in major capitals even before the photographs were made public.

Soviet Professor Gligan Melkumov called the shot "brilliant," Moscow Radio reported. "We are told that the pictures are excellent. What is important is that they were taken at close range. They show things that could never be seen in any other way," he said.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said: "Soviet scientists are happy to note that the launching of Ranger 7 is a new national achievement of the United States in its program of exploration of the moon and a contribution to the study of outer space."

Soviets Lack Closeups
The agency added: "The Soviet Union was the pioneer of moon photography."

New York Mayor to Visit White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York, one of those who hasn't been killed off as a Democratic vice presidential possibility, is coming to the White House today to be an overnight guest of President and Mrs. Johnson.

While it would seem that politics is a subject that can scarcely escape discussion, White House Press Secretary George Reedy said, "It's not the purpose of the visit. 'It's just a visit,' he said.

He said that after the death of Mrs. Wagner March 2, the President and Mrs. Johnson invited the mayor to come to Washington for a weekend whenever it was convenient and to bring his sons, Duncan and Robert Jr.

Seedcraft Decorated Vases, Boxes Are Interesting Fun

Decide the kind of design you want to create with the seeds. A flower is easy to make. Apply a coat of clear shellac to the cover of the box or the side of the vase and while the shellac is wet proceed to stick the seeds in place as the boy is doing in Figure 1. Apply the large seeds first to create the flower, using watermelon or sunflower seeds for the petals. Make a border around the flower by scattering rows of small seeds in the shellac. Press the seeds down firmly with a small piece of cardboard. When the cardboard becomes covered with shellac, use a clean piece. When the shellac has dried, apply another coat over the top of the seeds to preserve and help hold them in place. (Copyright 1964)

Indian Affairs Bureau to Study Menominees

Wisconsin, Federal Appraisal Promised By Commissioner

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Bureau of Indian Affairs plans to "co-operate actively" with Wisconsin in appraising the present economic and social conditions in Menominee County, the bureau's commissioner has told Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R. Marshfield.

Philo Nash, a former Wisconsin lieutenant governor made the promise to Laird in a letter this month as a reply to a Laird request made in February.

"It is amazing that Philo Nash had to take more than five months to answer my letter," Laird said. "Perhaps if the House Appropriations Committee had not requested that such a study be made, he would never have consented to investigate the situation at all."

Copies of Resolutions

Laird's February request included copies of resolutions passed in January by the Council of Chiefs of the Menominee Indian Tribe of Wisconsin, Inc., which requested amendments to Menominee Termination Act to allow further federal assistance.

Under the present terms of the termination of the trust relationship between the tribe and the federal government was final and could not be restored for any period of financial assistance to the Menominees.

The act provided only for payment over a 5-year period of diminishing sums in connection with the county's school costs. No provision was made for continuation of treatment or control of tuberculosis which has become a major problem within the tribe since termination.

Wanted Specific Steps

"I had hoped that the Department of Interior, in view of President Johnson's program to eliminate poverty, might have come up with some specific steps to eliminate the poverty and substandard health conditions within Menominee County," Laird said.

He said three years ago the House approved a measure he had introduced which would have granted the Menominees a loan authority of $2.5 million for industrial development and provided education, welfare and health and sanitation aids totaling $1,674,000 to be paid the tribe over a five-year period. The Senate, however, killed the bill.

Wednesday, Gordon Bubolz, chairman of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission, sent a letter to the director of the State Department of Resource Development suggesting federal aids of at least $6 million be requested to improve the economic conditions in the county.

John Byrnes to Ask Change in Apportionment

Green Bay Solon Cites Dissenter In Court Action

BY FRANCES McKUSICK

WASHINGTON — Rep. John W. Byrnes, R. Green Bay, served notice today that he would support a Constitutional amendment guaranteeing the individual states the right of apportionment on factors other than a population basis.

The amendment, currently in hearings before the House Judiciary committee, is aimed at settling a Supreme Court decision handed down last month which ruled that the seats of both Houses of a bicameral state legislature must be apportioned on such a population basis.

Describing this ruling as "the boldest reach for political power yet by a court which seems bent on substituting its legislative judgment for the normal processes of lawmaking," Byrnes declared that the decision finds no support in the 175-year political history of our country.

"The issue here is not whether it is wise or fair for a state to base the seats of one of its Houses on factors other than population," the Green Bay congressman said in an interview. "The issue is whether the Supreme court will dictate to the people of each state what kind of political system they should be governed by, substituting its judgment for theirs."

He pointed out that the type of representation a state had in its own governing body should be argued by the people in each state, as it has in Wisconsin, and a decision reached on the basis of the "collective judgment of the electorate."

Federal Bureau to Sponsor Conferences In Wisconsin Cities

Law enforcement agency representatives will meet in two Wisconsin cities next week to discuss provisions of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 at a conference sponsored by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Agents will convene in Marshfield Tuesday and in Hartford Thursday for the one-day sessions. The Fugitive Felon Act will also be discussed.

The conferences are part of a nationwide series being given to discuss co-operation of FBI agents with local authorities in regard to violations of the two laws.

He pointed out that the type of representation a state had in its own governing body should be argued by the people in each state, as it has in Wisconsin, and a decision reached on the basis of the "collective judgment of the electorate."

Quoting from the dissenting opinion of Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart, Byrnes said "The very fact of geographic districting, the constitutional Court does not question, carries with it an acceptance of the idea of legislative representation of regional needs and interests. Yet, if geographical residence is irrelevant, and the goal solely that of equally weighted votes, I do not understand why the Court's constitutional rule does not require the abolition of districts and the holding of all elections at large."

Lorenz representing the Planning Commission having registered their recommendation in favor of granting the petition and no one appearing as opposing, voted to grant the petition for amendment and recommend adoption of the following ordinance:

AN ORDINANCE of the Outagamie County Board of Supervisors transferring a certain parcel of land from AGRICULTURAL DISTRICT to COMMERCIAL DISTRICT.

No. 14. Amendment to the county zoning ordinance. (Peter Van Zeeland)

To The Honorable, The Board of Supervisors of Outagamie County, Wisconsin.
Gentlemen:

No. 2 is a petition from the Town of Vandenberg, requesting County aid for the construction of the Vandenberg and Van Der Heyden Bridges, located in the said Town of Oneida.

Your County Highway Committee wishes to make the following report and recommendation for these bridges:

"That the County Highway Commissioner, Clarence J. Brownson, inspected this structure and he states that it should be replaced as described in the petition."

We, therefore, recommend that County aid in the estimated sum of $90,000 or one-half (1/2) of the total cost of this bridge be granted for the extension of this bridge, and that the County's share be placed in the 1965 budget.

We further recommend that inasmuch as no appropriation was made for this bridge at the November 1963 session of the County Board that in the event this bridge is extended in the 1964 session of the County Board, the County's share of the cost as well as the Town's share, and when the County's share is available in March of 1965, the amount of the County's share will be refunded to the Town of Vandenberg.

Respectfully submitted,
COUNTY HIGHWAY COMMITTEE:
Edward Pfeiffer, Matt Verfurth, Ervin Conrad, I. Grunwaldt.

Roof Sprayer Charged Under New Ordinance

Member of Band Of 'Travelers' Working in Area

A Miami, Fla. roof sprayer is the first transient businessman to be charged under the city's recently-adopted selling permit ordinance and has posted a $50 bond with Appleton police.

The man, Robert Johnson, 26, admitted to police he sprayed roof tar at a W. Kenilworth Avenue home Wednesday afternoon without first obtaining a transient peddler's permit. He is to appear in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 next Friday.

The homeowner complained to police that the workmanship was not good and that the tar sprayers "acted suspicious" when they accepted pay for the work.

Thursday, after Johnson and his co-worker, Miller Mitchell, 36, Sumter, S. C., were taken into custody by police, they returned to the W. Kenilworth Avenue home and refunded $65 of the $80 taken from the man for the roof work.

Band of 'Travelers' Police questioned several crews of workmen in trucks equipped with tar sprayers and learned that the crews were part of a band of "travelers" who were meeting in a special holiday celebration in the Shawano area.

The men said that others from all over the country were in the Shawano area for the ceremony and while there, they performed odd jobs for money to finance travel to other parts of the country.

Police learned that the special ceremony was held July 26 and that most of the travelers are leaving the area.

Late Model Truck Detectives said that about 20 itinerant roof sprayers were questioned Thursday and most were driving late model trucks equipped with tar spraying tanks and other equipment. Jobs performed include seal-coating roofing and resurfacing asphalt drives.

At least two crews of roof sprayers who told police they were not associated with the traveling bands, reported to police they would be working in the area for the next "several days."

Police said the crews are legitimate businessmen and came to police to establish their "good name" after hearing reports of the poor workmanship done by the travelers.

City Employees Will be Paid While at Camp

Finance Unit Says Appleton Military Men Not to Lose Time

Appleton's municipal employees will not be docked time or pay for attending military camp under terms of a recommendation made Thursday by the council's finance committee.

The committee indicated it was taking its action in keeping with 16.275 of the state statutes.

The city was recently requested to define its policy when the question arose as to whether a sanitation division employee should have received regular pay while attending camp.

A section of the state law pertaining to civil service says reservists and national guardsmen are entitled to attend training camps and schools, not to exceed 15 days, without a loss of time or pay.

The law also says that military leave from the job should be in addition to all other leaves granted or authorized, meaning camp duty should not be taken away from their vacation time.

Many employers, as well as guardsmen and reservists, are unaware the law has been on the books for several years.

The common council will act on the recommendation Wednesday night.

New budget forms prepared by Finance Director Donald Hassler were also reviewed by the finance committee.

Aldermen gave Hassler approval to start 1965 budget preparations in September instead of October as in the past.

This will mean all municipal departments, boards and agencies will have their requests in by Oct. 1.

Church Marks Centennial Of Its Founding Near Caroline

A 10:30 a.m. service will be conducted by Hans Tornow, Sheboygan, and the afternoon service at 2:30 will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Lloyd Goetz.

Immanuel congregation was founded 100 years ago when Rev. Dieck and the Rev. C. F. Ebert, Belle Plaine, conducted service for Lutheran families in the vicinity of the present village of Caroline.

These pioneers built a small log cabin, which had no floor except for a covering of clean, white sand.

Church Redecorated A frame church was built later on the same site. In 1904, the present brick church of Gothic design was constructed.

During the past year, the church was completely redecorated, and extensive repairs were done to the organ.

The parsonage in Caroline was purchased in 1930, and the parish hall across from it was built in 1904.

Resident pastors who have served the congregation through the years include the Rev. Jacob Diehl, who began in 1874, and served for 14 years; the Rev. H. Kollmorgen, 1888; the Rev. Robert Heike, 1892; the Rev. F. Rand, 1899; the Rev. H. Bauman, 1901; the Rev. P. Tornow, 1929; the Rev. Carl Gutekunst, 1944; the Rev. William Shilling, 1950; the Rev. A. Brauer, 1953; and the Rev. V. J. Zuberier, 1957. The Rev. Donald Krompart, who arrived in 1963, is the present pastor.

Neenah Theatre Group

Chick LaPointe Stars In Riverside's 'Harvey'

BY JAY JOSLYN Post-Crescent Sunday Editor

Neenah—One of the sweetest guys who ever existed is in town for the weekend and it's well worth the trip to Riverside Park to meet him. Elwood P. Dowd is his name and Chick LaPointe, in bringing him to his full, sweet, wonderful life joins the exalted company of such fine actors as Frank Fay, Joe E. Brown and Jimmy Stewart.

The Dowd role in Mary Chase's "Harvey" is a plum many actors have sought and LaPointe, in the Riverside Players production which opened Thursday night fulfilled every qualification. The lovable Elwood wasn't merely mimed, he actually lived and in living he worked the miracle of charity and honesty anew.

Director's Debut Mrs. Chase stands alone in our theatrical firmament mainly because of her optimistic viewpoint and her faith in the ultimate goodness of people. There should be many more people like Mary Chase, and James Wheeler must be congratulated on this choice for his debut production as a director in the Player stable.

Of course, he also was wise in casting LaPointe as Dowd and Margaret Heyn as Dowd's mixed-up sister.

Another big assist was given Wheeler's debut by the good looking sets designed by David J. Goodwin, upon whom the Players have come to depend for getting difficult jobs done. There are two sets; a colorful Victorian room and the reception room of Chumley's Rest. The first was a fine splash of hues and bric-a-brac, while the latter was a black and white representation of a room that appeared from the wings in front of the proscenium on wagons.

The latter setting more closely reflected Wheeler's handling of the show. While Dowd was played in an even, quiet, sensitive vein, the rest of the players were cast in a caricature mold of two dimensions at a level often just below hysteria. The effect added brilliance to the aura about the sweet Elwood. Since the remarkable Dowd is the chief reason for the exercise, the splintered characteristics left in the wake of this interpretation can be excused.

As the playing of the show was kept in a consistent light, the work of the complete cast should be commended on that basis. Liz Kempinger was self-fish enough to be shaken as Dowd's spoiled niece. Alice Viestenz carried off her eccentricities as an old family friend. Lois Sacher made a lissome, sympathetic nurse while Terry Roberts was properly earnest as a fledgling head-shrinker. Jerry Yetter mugged up a wolfish mug of an asylum aide and Paul Hansen bumbled an impressive head shrinker while Betty Whitcomb limned his suffering wife well. Carl Matson barked out an annoyed judge and Wilson Scribner did a good job of giving a rough-hewn view of Dowd's worth as a forthright cabbie.

And then there was Harvey, standing proud and tall with his pink eyes staring out from his pristine face as is his custom. For those upon whom Mrs. Chase's magic didn't work — those poor earth-bound creatures — the Players provided cute, young Pookas for usherettes. The one jarring note Thursday night was the fact that these Pookas didn't have a full evening of work. For the kind of entertainment being offered in the park's jewel case theater only a full house is appropriate and it is earnestly hoped that many more will take the advantage of meeting Dowd, one of the sweetest guys who ever existed.

Of Non-College Youth Industrialists' Help Asked for School Study

NEENAH — What high school courses and experiences have contributed most to the business world success of students who did not go on to college?

This is the basic information which will be sought from Fox Valley industrialists by the Fox Valley Curriculum Study Council, Inc. Their cooperation was asked during a meeting Thursday in Kimberly-Clark's marketing center here.

The non-college bound student is one of four major study areas selected by the curriculum council for a five-year research program. Other studies are the teaching of modern mathematics, science instruction and instruction grouping by sex.

Four Things Asked Approximately 50 industrialists from Door County to Fond du Lac attended Thursday's meeting.

They were asked to specifically do four things: name a permanent representative to the council, provide advice and consultation, help collect information and give financial assistance.

A suggested guideline for financial assistance is 50 cents for each full-time employee. No definite formula has been adopted, James Hillestead, Oshkosh, the council's executive director, said.

Hillestead said the council has obtained names and basic data on the 3,600 high school seniors who were graduated this year. He hopes follow-up contacts will be made probably every three years to see how they have fared.

Interview Students Students who did not go to college will be interviewed next spring, about 11 months after graduation. Their views on high school training and experiences will become a part of the overall study, as will information provided by employers.

The educators wish to learn how best to prepare non-college bound students so they will succeed in an increasingly technical society.

HINTS FROM Heloise

LISTEN GALS:
I am so tired of buying expensive ironing board covers, so I learned recently that they can be washed when the dark spray starches "fill-er-up"...

I use the silver-type cloths. Yes, that is the one thing I splurge on — a good cover and iron. But I have had my problems, too, with the spray starches filling up all the pores until it feels like you are ironing on plastic.

So...I removed mine, soaked it in cold water first. This is most necessary because the starch will liquefy again as soon as, and if, you put the pad cover in soap and you will really have a mess, then I took a scrub brush and scrubbed it good.

When all the slickness was gone (you can tell this by running your hand over the pad) then wash the pad with your suds. Rinse it well and put it back on your ironing board while still damp.

The pad will be wrinkled but both the cover and string will be wet and it will shrink tightly.

While still damp I heated my iron and ironed it beautifully.

I found that half those darn scorchers weren't scorchers at all! It was burned starch! Remove the starch and the scorchers leave... So the idea is to wash your ironing board cover.

And most important is to put two layers of heavy foil — and three is even better — Under that cover before putting it back on. Then watch your ironing go twice as fast.

Come on now. Get out of that chair. Put some cold water in your sink.

Take off that dingy cover. Put it in the sink to soak in cold water while we have another cup of coffee. Only takes a few minutes.

Save, save, save... those pennies make dollars and dollars give us security.

Love ya,
Heloise

P.S. I am well aware it says, "do not wash silver ironing board covers" but it sure beats throwing it away. Mine is fine after putting foil under it.

Dear Heloise:
We can't have our cake and eat it too.
Tho' it is something we'd all like to do.

The only alternative that I know is before it's baked, save part of the dough!

Dear Heloise:
Here is a little hint which was handed on to me by a Chinese friend:

When measuring water or milk for scrambled eggs, use the egg shell for a measure. I use two half shells for each egg.

Marjorie Milne

Dear Heloise:
My maid has her own trick for tucking the rubber bath mat out of the way when not in use. She rolls the mat into a compact cylinder and lays it across the hot and cold water faucets at the end of the tub.

Result — a more orderly appearance to the bathroom, which is something we all strive for. And also helps prevent a mildewed mat...

B. Brown

Dear Heloise:
Here is a hint for the ladies who have trouble getting a patch on straight... use your small embroidery hoop. It holds the material taut and straight.

To patch the knees of your little boy's pants, let out one of the side seams and patch on your machine. Then just run the seam up again. It's a lot faster than hand-patching.

Mrs. E. Bowman

Dear Heloise:
Those heart-shaped cans that small imported hams come in make excellent molds for jellied salads. I use the small two-pound cans for cranberry jelly salad and set it in the middle of a bed of lettuce. Most attractive.

Mrs. M. H. Southside

Girls, any fancy shape can also be used for molds of tomato aspic, etc.

Buffet Supper
GREENVILLE — The Ladies Aid of the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church will have a buffet supper with serving starting at 4 p.m. Sunday. Chairman is Mrs. Erwin Tellock with Mrs. Gerald Wunderlich, Mrs. Roger Weising, Mrs. Wilmer Doell and Mrs. Victor Kleberg assisting.

His Ready Grin Showing his delight, Daniel Van Berkel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Van Berkel, 817 E. First St., Kimberly, stacks his set of children's classics neatly in a bookcase. Dan is the first Fox Cities national prizewinner of the year for his original entry in the Cappy Dick contest published weekly in the Post-Crescent as part of a daily Hobby Club feature. Reading is one of Daniel's favorite pursuits, so that's what he has been doing this summer since he won the 12 books. (Post-Crescent Photo)

National Prize Kimberly Boy Wins Children's Book Set

BY LILIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A confirmed fan of Cappy Dick and his Young Hobby Club feature in the daily Post-Crescent, young Daniel Van Berkel of Kimberly only needed two tries to come up with a national winner in the weekly contests.

The imaginative sixth grader at Holy Name of Jesus School, Kimberly, won a local prize the first time he entered the Wednesday contests and his picture for his second entry was judged one of the five best in the United States.

As a result, young Dan now owns a 12-volume set of Great Books for Children. These are stories he can share with his four brothers and even his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Van Berkel, who sometimes hold family reading sessions at their home at 817 First St., Kimberly.

Unusual Entry

Dan dressed the miniature newspaper pictures up a bit by cutting it out then placing it in a larger and more meaningful scene. For this he used a large piece of construction paper on which was drawn a picture of a school and was colored brick red and along the roof edge the name Kimberly High was carefully lettered.

The doors to the gym were cut so they stood open and in-terrupting by "blocking" the brightly colored contest entry with an appropriate letter K on the banner.

The books—all 12 of them—are prized by the young man because reading is one of his favorite subjects in school, along with the study of history. He has other interests, however. A sacral or "saddle" block is both active and quiet. Dan is a coin collector and he likes to build model ships and cars from kits. His preference in sports

Poem Stirs 'Smart' Teen-Ager To Revamp His Whole Life

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was one of those teen-agers who thought I had to have the approval of "the crowd" in everything I said and did. I thought it was smart to be just like everyone else. Then I read a poem in the school paper. I don't even know who Landers wrote it, but it changed my life. Maybe if you print it it will change the lives of others:

How absurd to be different from the crowd.
Not too loud. Not too proud.
Not too flashy. Not too brassy.
Keep it cool.
Not too mousey. Not a creep.
Not too long hair. Play it safe, Man.
Take it easy.
Not too smart. Keep it breezy.
Don't take the rap. Why be a sap?
Who wants to lead. And may-be bleed?
Don't stick your neck out.
Silly Boy.
Keep still and safe and miss the joy of Knowing who you are.
Douse the flame.
Let everyone be the same.
Without a name.

To Your Good Health Nerve Blocks Can Reduce Irritation

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain a nerve block, and how it is done. I have a peptic ulcer and the doctor says a nerve block would help. At times I have very severe pain.

A nerve block is by no means a complete answer to the ulcer problem. It is merely one of several factors to be employed together. I strongly suggest that you read my booklet, "How to Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For a copy, send 20 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Molner in care of Appleton Post-Crescent.

There is much that you can do to enhance the treatment by your doctor, not only to heal the ulcer but to keep it from flaring up again.

Dear Dr. Molner: A friend of mine died recently of malignant melanoma. Could you tell me anything about this? I never heard of it.

I'm not surprised that you haven't heard of it, since it is a relatively rare type of cancer which, for reasons not known, contains dark-colored cells. The name comes from the Greek word melas, meaning black.

Anyway, this is why blue-black moles, under certain conditions, are viewed with more suspicion than other moles. If cancer starts in such a mole, it tends to spread with extreme rapidity. My advice is not to fret about melanoma, as it is rare, but if you have such very dark moles, tell your doctor so he can advise you what to do, or what to watch out for. A very technical, quite rare problem.

Dear Dr. Molner: Are there bacterial hazards in frozen foods? — Mrs. J. M.

Frozen foods are kept at a low enough temperature so there is no fear of bacterial growth. But if food becomes contaminated, it will remain that way when frozen. Freezing by no means eliminates the need for proper handling of food to amend the charge and for relatively brief interruption of the nerve, or crushing or cutting the nerve for longer-term interruption.

Robert Semrad, an assistant city attorney, told the court the arresting officer had incorrect-ly stated the ordinance section. Whether medication is used to interrupt the nerve, or crushing or cutting the nerve for longer-term interruption, the nerve for longer-term interruption is destroyed.

Traffic Charge Against Justice Is Dismissed

MADISON (AP) — A traffic charge brought more than 5 months ago against Supreme Court Justice E. Harold Hallows was dismissed Thursday by Dane County Judge Carl F. Fenn, who acted shortly after the justice's trial had begun.

Green Bay Packer veteran Bob Skoronski will be at a new position — center — tonight during the club's intrasquad game at City Stadium.

Expect 15,000 or More at Packer Intrasquad Game

Hornung, Caffey and Skoronski Among Veterans in Spotlight

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY—Paul Hornung will be in the spotlight when the Packers collide in their annual intra-squad game in City Stadium tonight.

So will Lee Roy Caffey, the linebacker obtained in the Gros-Ringo trade; Bob Skoronski, the new center; and a highly-prized crop of rookies.

Hornung will be making his first public appearance since the Packer-Giant championship game in New York in December of 1962.

And it's fitting that the preliminary testing be given by his own teammates and in front of his own fans.

The Packer defense, sharpened by a week of scrimmaging, won't spare the horses on Hornung... and a crowd of around 15,000 — maybe more — will watch the proceedings. This would easily crack the record attendance of 9,500 set last year.

The offense vs. defense action will start at 8 p.m. Tickets ($1 for adults and 25 cents for children) will be available at the stadium.

Menasha's Little Leaguers Gain State Tourney Berth

Hit 3 Homers In Defeating Menominee

ANTIGO — The Menasha South Little League All-Stars earned a berth in the state Little League tournament for the second straight year by beating Menominee, Mich., 8-3, in the district meet finals here Friday.

Menasha and three other state teams will compete at Wausau Thursday and Friday for the right to continue on in the tournament competition.

The Twin Cities' 10-hit assault included three homers, with Chuck Gilbert's 3-run blast in the fifth inning the game clincher.

Menasha tallied three times in the first, two on Ron Haack's homer. Gary Ruesch's hit, a single by Cal Walters and an error preceded the circuit clout.

Tom Bednarowski was safe on a 2-base error in the second and tallied on a hit by Bill Bertagnoli. Bertagnoli whacked a leadoff homer in the fourth, and an error, John Walbrun's double and Gilbert's blow were blended into the final three in the fifth.

Menominee collected its three tallies in the fourth on an error, a passed ball and three straight hits.

Tim Ruelle went the route for Menasha and allowed five hits. He struck out seven and walked four. Merle Russell opened for Menominee but left after pitching the first inning and to two batters in the second.

Gary Enstrom finished and combined they struck out eight and walked six.

Haack, Gilbert and Bertagnoli all had two hits for Menasha while Russell collected a single and double to pace the losers.

Mickey Wright Leads Golf Tourney With 143

Miss Nienhaus Adds 84 for 169 Total

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Despite a troublesome stomach ulcer, Mickey Wright has lost neither her taste for food nor the glittering gold of the women's professional golf circuit.

The 29-year-old blonde, heading for an appointment with her doctor in Dallas next week, conquered her physical miseries and fired a three-under-par 69 for a 36-hole total of 143 and a three-stroke lead Friday at the halfway mark of the $12,500 Milwaukee Open.

Even the ulcer is probably gold," said one pro traveler in marveling at Miss Wright's tremendous performance on the North Shore Country Club's exacting 6,500-yard course.

Miss Wright, who has won seven of 14 previous tournaments this year while maintaining her role as the LPGA's leading money winner, admitted somewhat reluctantly—but, with a beaming smile—that she hasn't stayed "completely" with a special diet for the last three weeks.

Cheat a Little
"I guess you might say I cheat a little," she said. "Now the ulcer is killing me and I'm going to have to miss the tournament at Waterloo, Iowa, next week to see my doctor."

Miss Wright, who fired an opening round 74, rebounded in spectacular fashion in grabbing the lead in the third annual Milwaukee tournament. She hit 17 greens in regulation, had five one-putts and three-putted just one hole while posting nines of one-under-par 36 and two-under 33.

This is one of the finest rounds I've played in a long, long while," she said. "I'm really delighted with it—especially because it was on a tough course."

Three Equal Par
Only three others, Sandra McClintock, Sue Maxwell and Sybil Griffin, managed to equal her.

Tiger Scores TKO Over Jose Gonzalez

May Get Bout With Archer In October

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Tiger lost his world middleweight crown to Joey Giardello eight months ago but today he felt like a champion again.

It was all because of his stunning six-round technical knockout of eighth-ranked Jose Gonzalez in a nationally televised bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

It was all because of his stunning six-round technical knockout of eighth-ranked Jose Gonzalez in a nationally televised bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Tiger, gripped by Giardello's punches, chose Carter in preference to him for his first defense of the title he won from Tiger last Dec. 7, had charged that the champion had reneged on a promise to give him a return bout.

Seeks Bout
Immediately after Tiger's impressive victory over Gonzalez, Harry Markson, managing director of boxing at Madison Square Garden, said he would seek a bout between Tiger and Joey Archer for the Garden Oct. 2, with the victor in line to meet the winner of the Oct. 23 Giardello-Carter fight for the title.

Archer, beaten only once by Gonzalez — in 45 bouts is ranked No. 2 contender behind Tiger.

Shortly after the start of the sixth round, Tiger stepped out of a clinch and landed a powerful right to Gonzalez's head. The punch spun the Puerto Rican halfway around. Tiger quickly followed with a crumpling left to the face that dropped his lighter opponent.

Gonzalez staggered to his feet at the count of eight but it was obvious that he was through for the night. Referee Arthur Mercante ordered a halt and awarded the bout to Tiger on a technical knockout.

Orioles Split Pair With A's; Yankees Lose

New York Retains First Place on Percentage Points

BY DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
It doesn't figure to happen, but who could blame Hank Bauer if he has Wally Bunker pitch both ends of the Orioles' next doubleheader.

Bauer called on Bunker in the first game of Friday night's twinbill against Kansas City and the 19-year-old wonder came through for the 12th time, throttling the A's 6-1 on a three-hit-ter.

The victory, coupled with Harmon Killebrew's two-run sudden-death homer that jolted the Yankees 4-3 at Minnesota, gave Baltimore a clear shot at the American League lead. And, when young Dave McNally took a 5-0 bulge into the eighth inning of the nightcap, Bauer must have been preparing one of those "Don't count out the Yanks yet" speeches.

But McNally never got out of the eighth and the Orioles never got into the top spot. The A's pushed six runs across in the inning—chasing McNally, bombing bullpen ace Stu Miller and finishing up against Steve Barber and finally won 7-6 on Ed Charles' leadoff homer off Barber in the ninth.

Four Points Out
When it was over, the Orioles were four percentage points out of first place and manager, Bauer was looking—somewhat wild-eyed—for another Bunker. Barber, a 20-game winner in 1963 who has now dropped eight of 13 decisions this year, wasn't the only left-hander victimized by the eighth and the Orioles never got into the top spot. The A's pushed six runs across in the inning—chasing McNally, bombing bullpen ace Stu Miller and finishing up against Steve Barber and finally won 7-6 on Ed Charles' leadoff homer off Barber in the ninth.

Menke's 12th home run gave the Braves another run in the third. Torre hit his 15th homer with one out in the fifth and Milwaukee got two more runs before the inning was over. Menke tripled and Mike de la Hoz was walked intentionally. A 25th homer ended the shutout wild pitch allowed Menke to bid. Brooks Robinson homered

Sommer worked the initial 1-3 innings before being shelved by an injury. Sommer, the league's top winner, notched his 13th victory of the season against one loss. Beene retired the final two men.

Power came in the form of 13 hits, including three home

Sommer Walters runs. Dave May, Bob Lewandowski and Stan Walters hit for the circuit.

The Foxes scored once in the first on May's solo smash with two out. May homered over the center field fence, some 420 feet away.

Walters opened the second inning with a line drive homer over the left field wall. Ray Wolkowski singled and Sommer walked. Lewandowski flied to left for the second out. Sommer was apparently nailed in a pick-off attempt with Matias at the plate but the base umpire ruled him safe. Matias promptly lined a double to right center, scoring Wolkowski and Sommer.

The Foxes made it 5-0 in the fourth when John Burrows opened with a double and scored on Matias' single. A double by Steve Huntz and Walters single made it 6-0 in the fifth.

Burrows walked to lead off the 4-run sixth. Sommer sacrificed him to second. Lewandowski followed with a 2-run shot over the left field fence, 365 feet away. Matias fanned but reached first on a passed ball. May forced him at second and stole second himself. Rico singled May across the plate and scored after Huntz walked and Walters singled.

The Foxes made it an even

Palmer, Collins Lead Canadian Golf Tourney

MONTREAL (AP) — Arnold Palmer has retrieved the putting ability he misplaced and big Bill Collins of Grossinger's, N.Y., has found a putting touch he never owned.

Palmer, lost in the shuffle with an opening round par 71, surged back Friday with a four-under 67 to share the second round lead at 138 with Collins in the $50,000 Canadian Open golf championship.

"That was my best putting round in the last year," Palmer said after tearing through the 71,000-yard Pinegrove Course in 29 putts.

"I never could make those long ones," Collins said, moments after he'd dropped putts from long distances to give him a three-under 68 to go with his initial 70.

"I changed putters after Thursday," Palmer explained. "I went back to the putter I'd discarded after the U.S. Open last June. It gave me more confidence. I felt better putting the ball."

Palmer's putter was sour Thursday, but he more than made up for it in the second round with eight one-putt greens. He hit the hole from 18 feet twice for birdies and knocked in a 13-footer on the 520-yard fifth for an eagle.

Collins, who has made a brilliant recovery from a back operation last August, used two more putts than Palmer but was just as spectacular. He dropped putts of 42, 36 and 25 feet on three holes and missed by an inch on a birdie try of 60 feet.

One stroke behind the co-leaders were Rex Baxter of Amarillo, Tex., and Billy Casper of Corona, Calif. Casper tied the course record with a 66.

Four pros were at 141, three strokes behind Palmer and Collins and one under par. They were Bob Verwey and Gary Player, two South Africans, Gibby Gilbert, who led the first round, and Ray Floyd of St. Andrews, Ill.

Gilbert, the unheralded pro from Hollywood, Fla., discovered the course was a trifle harder with a three-over 74 to go with his opening 67.

Bob Shave Jr. of Willoughby, Ohio, in second spot on the first day with a 68, also fired a 74 and found himself locked with Jack Nicklaus at par 142 after 36 holes.

Palmer birdied the first hole with a 10-foot putt but went over par on the second and third when he missed the greens. He knocked a five-iron 15 feet from the pin to eagle the fifth and then one-putted on the seventh and ninth holes for pars after missing the greens.

He had 18-foot birdie putts on 12 and 13 and picked up his final birdie on 15 when he knocked an eight-iron three feet from the pin on the 150-yard hole. He also missed the 17th green, but putted out from 10 feet for a par.

"Fat Six"

Collins took a fat six on the par-four ninth when he topped his second shot into the water but bounced right back with a four-under 31 on the back nine.

Collins missed the green on the second hole but holed out from 35 feet for a birdie and knocked a putt in from 25 feet on the fourth for another. He two-putted the next hole from 20 feet but still gained a stroke.

Coming home, he sank a 12-footer for a birdie on the 10th and stroked home a 42-foot putt at the 13th for another.

Lohmiller and Penn Duel for State Crown

'Butch' Schlicht Eliminated by 2-Up Margin

MADISON (AP) — Dave Penn and Jay Lohmiller, a pair of 20-year-old University of Wisconsin juniors, were matched at 36 holes today for the championship in the 63rd Wisconsin Amateur Golf Tournament.

Penn proved Friday that the putter can be mightier than the driver in taking a 2-up victory over medalist Ralph "Butch" Schlicht, the runnerup in the 1963 tournament.

Lohmiller also used a sharp putter in eliminating Randy Robel of Waukesha, the fourth member of the youth movement that swept all the veterans out of the meet in Thursday's quarter-finals. Lohmiller won 5 and 4.

Both Penn and Lohmiller are from Madison, and they are teammates on the university links squad and both claim as their home course the Blackhawk Country Club, the setting for their title match. And each was a finalist the first time he qualified for the tournament's match play rounds.

Seek Junior Title

Bidding for the junior crown today were Jeff Radder, another Madison boy, and Dan Nitz of Janesville. They also were matched at 36 holes.

Penn started off on the right foot Friday, winning the first two holes and Schlicht never caught up. While Penn was in usually out driven, he was in control on the greens, carding a 3-under-par 69 as he moved to a one-up lead at the end of the first 18.

Schlicht dropped two behind by losing the first hole in the afternoon but he birdied the 20th and stayed close until the 32nd until he drove out of bounds and Penn again was two-up.

Penn lost half of his advantage when he took a bogey five on the 35th hole, opening the door for a rally by Schlicht.

But Schlicht's tee shot faded, his recovery was too strong and when his first putt ran past the cup he picked up his ball.

Grimacing, he stuck out his hand and told Penn, "You can have it."

Penn was even with par at 72 for the round.

Lohmiller took an early three-up lead over Robel in their morning round, but the Waukesha entrant, who attends White water State, rallied to square the match on the 15th. Robel couldn't hold on and Lohmiller swept the next three holes to lead three-up as the morning round ended.

In the afternoon, Robel began missing the fairways and hitting the traps and by the 24th hole he was six behind and it was only a matter of time. Lohmiller had a 75 in the morning to Robel's 78. Lohmiller finished strong, going one under at 35 for the first nine in the afternoon.

Ellsworth Suffers Hairline Fracture

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Cubs pitcher Dick Ellsworth suffered a hairline fracture of his right cheekbone when he was struck by a liner off the bat of Dick Groat, St. Louis shortstop, Thursday.

X-rays revealed the fracture Friday and the Cubs said Ellsworth would enter Wesley Memorial Hospital immediately to undergo treatment.

It's expected Ellsworth, who has a 12-12 record this season and was a 22-game winner for the Cubs last year, would be released from the hospital in time to resume practice Sunday.

Franchhauser Dropped From 'Serious' List

BEMIDJI, Minn. (AP) — Tom Franchhauser, Minnesota Vikings defensive back seriously hurt in a training camp accident, showed so much improvement Friday that his doctors said they likely would take him off the serious list by today.

Franchhauser was critically hurt Wednesday in making a tackle during scrimmage. He underwent surgery Wednesday night to relieve pressure caused by a brain hemorrhage.

The Vikings went through two brief workouts Friday in a final tuneup for a full-scale intrasquad scrimmage Saturday night in Bemidji State College Stadium.

Nearly 4,000 fans are expected for the scrimmage, matching a white team captained by Rip Hawkins against a Purple team headed by Fran Tarkenton.

Schollander, Dick Roth Set World Records

LOS ALTOS HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Three world record shattering performances in Olympic swimming events boost America's chances at the Tokyo Olympics higher today.

The fastest times ever clocked came in National AAU Men's and Women's Outdoor Championships which went into their third session today.

America's young swimmers—all but one of them teen-agers—have smashed five world records, eight American marks and 12 meet records in the first two days of the four-day meet at Foothill College. No less than 22 records—including four world, seven American and 11 meet marks—fell by the wayside Friday.

Don Schollander, a power-stroking 18-year-old from Santa Clara, Calif., via Oregon, led the assault with a world record-shattering mark of 4 minutes, 12.7 seconds in the 400-meter freestyle.

Takes Early Lead

Schollander took an early lead over Olympic star Murray Rose and fought off a last-ditch rally by the Australian star, finishing second in 4:15.7.

Schollander bettered Rose's world record of 4:13.4, set in 1962 in Chicago. The two are virtually certain to meet in the same race in Tokyo.

Equally impressive was the world record-breaking effort of muscular Dick Roth of nearby Menlo-Atherton High School who set a new world's mark of 4:48.6 in the 400-meter medley after barely qualifying for the finals.

Roth topped the record of 4:50.2 by West Germany's G. Hetz in 1963 in defeating favored Roy Saari of El Segundo, Calif., in the meet's top upset.

The world's record in the women's 400-meter freestyle relay fell before the onslaught of the Santa Clara Swim Club quartet of Donna de Varona, Pokey Watson, Terri Steinkles and Jana Haroun. The youngsters swam the distance in 4:08.5 to clip nearly a second off the world's mark of 4:09.4 set by an American national team in 1962.

Williams and Darris McCord. The Lions scrimmaged Friday in preparation for their intrasquad game Saturday night at University of Detroit Stadium.

A's Unloaded

McNally was working on a six-hitter in the second game when the A's unloaded. Charles led off the eighth with a double and, one out later, Ken Harrelson reached first on Johnson's error. Jim Gentile walked, filling the bases, and Doc Edwards scored Charles with a single. Exit McNally.

Berto Campaneris greeted Miller with a two-run double and Nelson Mathews drove in two more, tying the score, with a single. Mathews raced all the way to third on Miller's wild pickoff attempt and scored when Wayne Causey, first up against Barber, lifted a sacrifice fly to left.

The Orioles tied it in the ninth on Dick Brown's second homer of the game but Charles broke it up in the bottom of the ninth with his 11th homer, an opposite field shot to right.

Pepitone, Maris

Run-scoring hits by Joe Pepitone and Roger Maris and a throwing error by outfielder Tony Oliva gave the Yankees three runs off Camilo Pascual in the fourth. They led 3-1 in the eighth, when Bob Allison hit a solo homer for the Twins. Then, singled by Rich Rollins in the ninth, Killebrew crashed his 36th homer.

Pizarro, the AL's top winner, fanned the side in three innings and flirted briefly with the major league strikeout record of 18. He had 13 through seven innings but could get only one of the last six outs via strikes.

Bill Skowron drove in two runs with sacrifice flies and Ron Hansen homered. Left-hand hitting Jim King got three of the Senators' hits.

Replace Kralick

Gary Bel replaced Indians starter Jack Kralick in the third inning of the first game and set down 18 Tigers in order to gain his sixth victory. The Indians collected 10 hits, including homers by Leon Wagner and Bob Chance, off four Detroit pitchers.

Pedro Ramos survived home runs by Norm Cash and Gates Brown in the nightcap for his fifth victory. The Indians' runs, crossed on two infield outs, a wild pitch by loser Joe Sparna and Chance's sacrifice fly.

Dick Radatz hurled two shut-out innings for the Red Sox, preserving Bill Monbouquette's seventh victory, and Ed Bresoud drove in three Boston runs with a two-run double and a ground out. Dick Stuart singled home the other run. The Angels got 10 hits, including Bobby Knopp's sixth homer.

A's Unloaded

McNally was working on a six-hitter in the second game when the A's unloaded. Charles led off the eighth with a double and, one out later, Ken Harrelson reached first on Johnson's error. Jim Gentile walked, filling the bases, and Doc Edwards scored Charles with a single. Exit McNally.

Berto Campaneris greeted Miller with a two-run double and Nelson Mathews drove in two more, tying the score, with a single. Mathews raced all the way to third on Miller's wild pickoff attempt and scored when Wayne Causey, first up against Barber, lifted a sacrifice fly to left.

The Orioles tied it in the ninth on Dick Brown's second homer of the game but Charles broke it up in the bottom of the ninth with his 11th homer, an opposite field shot to right.

Pepitone, Maris

Run-scoring hits by Joe Pepitone and Roger Maris and a throwing error by outfielder Tony Oliva gave the Yankees three runs off Camilo Pascual in the fourth. They led 3-1 in the eighth, when Bob Allison hit a solo homer for the Twins. Then, singled by Rich Rollins in the ninth, Killebrew crashed his 36th homer.

Pizarro, the AL's top winner, fanned the side in three innings and flirted briefly with the major league strikeout record of 18. He had 13 through seven innings but could get only one of the last six outs via strikes.

Bill Skowron drove in two runs with sacrifice flies and Ron Hansen homered. Left-hand hitting Jim King got three of the Senators' hits.

Replace Kralick

Gary Bel replaced Indians starter Jack Kralick in the third inning of the first game and set down 18 Tigers in order to gain his sixth victory. The Indians collected 10 hits, including homers by Leon Wagner and Bob Chance, off four Detroit pitchers.

Pedro Ramos survived home runs by Norm Cash and Gates Brown in the nightcap for his fifth victory. The Indians' runs, crossed on two infield outs, a wild pitch by loser Joe Sparna and Chance's sacrifice fly.

Dick Radatz hurled two shut-out innings for the Red Sox, preserving Bill Monbouquette's seventh victory, and Ed Bresoud drove in three Boston runs with a two-run double and a ground out. Dick Stuart singled home the other run. The Angels got 10 hits, including Bobby Knopp's sixth homer.

Bobby Baker Sires a New Study

The only concrete result of the Senate Rules Committee's investigation of the affairs of Bobby Baker was a recommendation that the Senate adopt a rule requiring senators and all senate employees earning over $10,000 a year to disclose annually their major outside interests.

Now the Senate by a 48-39 vote has rejected the proposed rule.

Instead we are to get another study. A 17-member commission will be appointed to conduct a two-year study of measures to insure high ethical standards among all federal officials.

There was some merit in the argument offered by opponents of the rule that it would have singled out senators for compliance, and that all federal employees should be subjected to the same standards. But in the interim before the two-year study is finished the Senate could have kept its own skirts clean with such a rule.

So Bobby Baker goes his merry way practically unscathed by the investigation which Democrats refused to pursue to the full extent. Apparently he will escape any federal prosecution also, which might provide some fuel for Republicans in this election year.

And in the two years the commission will study the matter the public can be expected to forget about the whole mess. Which undoubtedly is the major purpose of the study.

A Thinking Man's Campaign?

The presidential campaign is certain to be an emotional affair. Some of Senator Goldwater's supporters, as indicated at the Republican convention, are not going to be bothered by issues or opinions but will be motivated purely by their fervent attachment to the man. Similarly some opponents turn virtually purple with antagonism without much regard for proposals or programs or platforms.

But there are also increasing signs that the campaign may bring into the open discussions of political philosophies that have lain dormant or have not been recently explored.

All of Senator Goldwater's backers do not "long to return to the womb" as the New York Times intemperately put it, nor are they advocates of such extreme measures as repealing the income tax, dropping bombs on Moscow and Peking, requiring loyalty oaths right and left or restoring segregation. There are many supporters who feel government has become too extensive and taxes too high, regulations too involved, interference too frequent. There are others who have just a vague feeling that there is something wrong in the civil rights violence, and in the frustration of not winning or perhaps not fighting the war in Viet Nam. They have a wistful longing for a more simple society with clear-cut answers and solutions. As we pointed out before there are a lot of valid issues which will come up for discussion even though some of the votes on both sides cannot be morally upheld.

But there is also, as the Wall Street Journal pointed out, a rather strange unrest in a nation of such wide prosperity. Is this insecurity one more proof that mankind cannot solve all his problems himself? Or do we just have more time to think about them?

President Johnson is not a dedicated "liberal" nor is Senator Goldwater a far right "conservative." But the fall's campaign may stimulate more real thinking for a lot of people on some rather basic questions as to what they expect of their nation, the relationship of various levels of government, our role in world affairs, in fact our own lives and our own places in society. Many may discover that solutions to all these problems cannot be found in government and many may decide that after all they do not want to change the present reliance.

Already, we think, there are signs that this is becoming more of a thoughtful campaign. The violently "anti" editorials have been toned down; the extreme advocates have been shushed. The nomination of Senator Goldwater may turn out to be very healthy for the nation.

Lesson in City-Suburban Relations

State Planner Walter Johnson recently issued a final order for a referendum Nov. 3 in the City of Green Bay and the adjoining Town of Preble on consolidation of the township of some 12,500 people with the city. It is the climax of years of discussion and months of negotiation which resulted in drawing up a consolidation ordinance which has been approved by both the city council and the town board.

When Johnson issued his order, he remarked:

"The general spirit of compromise exhibited by city officials, town officials, and citizens at large, all amicably striving for the most desirable solution to their common problems, offers an outstanding example to the rest of the state of city-suburban cooperation."

The spirit was not always so. In years gone by relations between the two municipalities were often strained. But as Preble became more and more urbanized, as the town government had to supply more and more services including an expensive senior-junior high school, the realities of the situation began to take priority over emotions. When the Preble tax rate equalled and surpassed that of Green Bay, consolidation efforts began in earnest.

The new spirit of cooperation is spreading in the Green Bay area. Two referendums in the suburban town of Allouez to provide money with which to build a township high school were defeated in recent months. And this week new elections to the town's school board have swung the board's majority to those in favor of discussing attaching the Allouez school system to that of Green Bay.

Previously, in an advisory referendum, voters of Allouez had favored building their own high school. But when they were confronted with the actual costs, many changed their minds.

As Planner Johnson says, this is "an outstanding example to the rest of the state."

The future of towns surrounding cities can be read in the history of the Preble-Green Bay situation. When urbanization reaches the stage where townships must provide services equivalent to those of the city, the total tax base of the two areas is needed to finance those services on anything approaching a reasonable tax basis.

Miracle Drugs Can Backfire

The danger of the indiscriminate use of drugs for minor infections has once again been underscored by a report given at the Congress of Biochemistry in New York. Scientists have published findings about how such use contributes to the development of strains of bacteria which are resistant to the drugs.

Involved in this particular study are four drugs in a group called the tetracyclines, one of the most widely used against some potent infections. They have generally proved remarkably effective.

But already about a dozen strains of bacteria against which the tetracyclines have been used are showing resistant strains. Among them are those which cause chronic bronchitis and another which is usually a relatively harmless dweller of man's digestive tract. Once in a while the latter bacteria spreads to other parts of the body, particularly the urinary tract where it can cause a lot of damage. The strains that are resistant to the tetracyclines are becoming difficult to control.

Bacteria against which the tetracyclines are effective literally gobble up the drug. It prevents the bacteria cells from making proteins essential for reproduction. The tetracyclines do not kill the hungry germs outright but rather make them sterile. But the resistant forms of the bacteria tend to ignore the drug and do not absorb it. Thus they continue to reproduce and the result is a growth of the resistant strain.

Our antibiotics are marvelous discoveries for the treatment of disease. But when they are used too often when they are really not needed, their effectiveness backfires.

People Do Use Rose Hips;
Here's Recipe for Jelly

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In the Charles House series of articles on flowers he recently wrote about the wild rose. He pointed out that Europeans and early Americans ate the rose hips — the seed pods — because they have a pleasant flavor.

But then he added, "But few have within the hips tend to irritate the throat and today we have better, tastier fruits from which to choose. Hence — so far as I know — nobody dines upon the berries of the wild rose."

Indeed, people still do dine on rose hips. Rose hip jelly has been a favorite with many people for years. In fact, I make a small quantity each summer and put it in fancy glasses to give out as Christmas presents — very well received too.

In case he might like to try it — since I read in his columns that he is a great experimenter — I herewith list my recipe.

Add one cup ripe hips to 1½ cups water. Bring to a boil and boil 15 minutes. Cool and let stand 24 hours covered.

Next day, strain juice, add two tablespoons lemon juice,

Most Presidents Have Had Own Retreats Away From Capital

BY RICHARD F. NEWCOMB
AP Newstheaters Writer

The President is never on vacation, but there's nothing in his contract that says he has to stay in Washington.

Right from the start, presidents have been getting away, if not for a "vacation," at least for a change. George Washington considered Mount Vernon his summer home and spent the hot months there. Whenever they could, the Adamses, John and John Quincy, went back to their homes at Quincy, Mass. When Monticello had so many guests Thomas Jefferson could find no solitude he retired to a nearby house built specially for him. That was called Poplar Forest at Bedford, Va.

Calvin Coolidge's administration gave rise to countless stories, and also gave birth to the phrase "summer White House." It was coined during his famous fishing vacations at Game Lodge, in the Black Hills of South Dakota. There have been many other summer White Houses, before and since.

James Buchanan went to Wheatland, a farm he owned near Lancaster, Pa., now the site of a museum. Martin Van Buren repaired to his estate, Lindenwald, at Kinderhook, N. Y., and James Monroe spent his summers at Ash Lawn, only a few miles from Monticello, Jefferson's home.

Woodrow Wilson had summer offices at Shadow Lawn, an estate at Sea Girt, N. J. Long Branch, N. J., not far from Sea Girt, was popular with no less than five presidents, Ulysses S. Grant, William McKinley, Rutherford B. Hayes, Chester A. Arthur and James A. Garfield.

Sagamore Hill, Theodore Roosevelt's home at Oyster Bay, N. Y., was the summer White House for seven years and is now a national shrine. John F. Kennedy spent much time at Hyannis Port, Mass., William Howard Taft favored Beverly, Mass., and Franklin D. Roosevelt liked Campobello, off the coast of Maine. FDR also had the "Little White House" at Warm Springs, Ga., and his Shangri La in the Catskill Mountains near Thurmont, Md. Harry S. Truman used Shangri La too, as did Dwight D. Eisenhower, who changed its name to Camp David, after his grandson. Truman also put Key West, Fla., on the map, and often visited his home town of Independence, Mo. When he wanted to fish or golf, Eisenhower went to Cherry Hills Country Club at Denver, and another golfing retreat was Augusta, Ga. Herbert Hoover liked to fish almost anywhere, and did much of it along the McKenzie River in Oregon.

Because of the Civil War, Abraham Lincoln could not get away from Washington, but for a change he spent one summer at Anderson Cottage, a homestead only four miles north of the White House. Presidents Hayes and Arthur used Anderson Cottage during part of their summers in Washington.

President Johnson, like his recent predecessors, is a traveling man and is often away from the White House. Thus far, however, the nearest thing to a summer White House has been week-end visits to the LBJ ranch in Texas.

Wisconsin Report
Why Are They Always Hitting at the Towns?
It's Interesting Query

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — At a public meeting recently, the veteran Assemblyman Franklin Jahnke of Green Lake County wondered plaintively:

"Why are they always hitting at the town governments?"

Mr. Jahnke is a long-time town chairman and member of his county board. He is a past chairman of the Wisconsin County Boards Assn. In the legislature he is one of the most reliable of the spokesmen of rural point of view in politics and generally esteemed among his colleagues. In the public meeting at which he spoke out, rural government representatives were complaining about the spate of criticism lately, in the urban press and other quarters, about the delinquencies and the failures of rural government generally and the campaign for reform in those quarters typically led by editorial writers in distant editorial offices.

ervoirs of bureaucratic assistants, as against the aldermen of Milwaukee, the state officials in Madison, or even the mayors of the medium sized cities of the state.

As a general rule, the town chairman of the typical rural town of Wisconsin is an acknowledged leader of his neighborhood, chosen not so much for his campaign effort, or for his rank and power in a political organization, as for his own stature among his neighbors and his reputation as a trustworthy and able fellow. That cannot always be said for elected officials in the more sophisticated urban centers, and especially in Milwaukee where so much of the anti-town bias lately has originated.

CAUSES

With all that said, it may be surmised that one of the reasons for the strong anti-town campaign of today is the circumstance that there is growing a demand for the reform of the county board representation system, which involves a reduction in the power of the towns in courthouse affairs. Admittedly in most counties the town residents out-vote the city dwellers in defiance of the literal democratic idea.

If there is a reapportionment of county boards by act of the 1965 Legislature, as now seems likely, it will be more difficult to make a case against the towns as instruments of local government.

Such criticism as might then remain would be suspect as merely prejudicial, a reflection of what used to be called "Afghanism" among journalists.

There is a tendency among some editorial commentators to criticize most vigorously those public problems, real or contrived, that are far removed in time and space, for they are easier and less dangerous. There are in Wisconsin today some survivors of that affliction. They are "always hitting at the towns," in Mr. Jahnke's indignant observation, because some of the more deserving and immediate targets are also more powerful and likely to strike back painfully.

THE REASONS?

It may be that this correspondent occasionally betrays his own rural and small town origins in these situations, but the Jahnke question is a fair one. Why is there such a preoccupation in many quarters with the problems of rural government — in defiance of the obvious abundance of more serious public problems at other levels of public service?

It is a fair speculation that an objective audit would show that the taxpayer is getting more service per dollar of tax assessment in the towns of Wisconsin: for such services as remain within the jurisdiction of the rural local governments, than on either the county, city or state level of disbursement.

It is reasonably evident from the most casual examination that the elected officials of towns serve for pitiable, remembering the demands upon their persons in the absence of extensive res-

Closing Durkee Street
Dangerous Precedent

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The article, "Taxpayer Objects to Request for Closing of Durkee Street" might well have been titled, "Taxpayers Object, etc." as there are some 30 property holders who signed and presented their objections in the form of a petition. I want to add an approving "amen" to this article, with a sincere, unbiased protest to any such radical action by our city authorities. Minority groups are entitled to be heard, and I am aware that a public meeting is scheduled for Aug. 19 for discussion of this matter. "The discontinuance of one block of North Durkee Street, between East Wisconsin Avenue and East Summer Street, Appleton, Outagamie County, Wisconsin." — Fair enough — but in a meeting of this nature, it always develops that oratory is the prevailing factor, and merely a gesture for hearing both sides before making a ruling.

I have lived on North Durkee Street, as a property-holding taxpayer for many, many happy years, and go back to the era when Herman Erb lived and owned his home at the corner of North Durkee and Harris Streets (the other side of the tracks) and I wonder just what thoughts would run through the mind of this benevolent gentleman, who made beautiful Erb Park possible through his generous gift to the City of Appleton, and what he would say about placing a roadblock only a few short blocks south of this park, leading right into the center of that property?

Durkee Street presently runs from East Lawrence Street directly to the park entrance, and hundreds of our kids make regular use of this lane of traffic when going for a swim — playing baseball, and all the other entertainment which this area provides, and a situation like this certainly cannot be compared to what was done to accommodate the erection of Edison School. We all know that Eldorado Street has always been a short street, running from the east side of City Park to Wood Street and Green Bay Road, a matter of but half a dozen blocks, more or less, and the argument favoring the change as expressed in some of the opinions of members of those promoting it, can hardly hold any weight when compared to blocking off an old established roadway such as Durkee Street. That situation is as different as day is from night, and established no precedent, but if this plan for vacating Durkee Street is carried out, it most certainly will set a mighty explosive precedent, leaving the door open for similar demands whenever or wherever they may develop, a fact which every taxpayer should keep firmly in mind.

In the writer's own case, in his own use of this street, the change is not nearly as important or inconvenient as it will work out with those folks living in the immediate vicinity of Wisconsin Avenue, and this inconvenience is bound to increase in ratio to the new building and development in this particular part of the city which is keeping pace with the city's rapid growth. These folks use the street daily, and our elected representatives must realize that all persons are not fortunate in owning cars, and serious consideration must be given to all phases of the situation. The church already has a large parcel of owned land, and though we all realize that it faces problems, don't we all? — Quite similar conditions have prevailed at St. Joseph's, where the children must cross Lawrence Street, a busy street, yes — but at certain periods, so is North Durkee Street a busy street regardless of traffic counts. If tunneling would solve their problems, why not consider it and not request that an important roadway be interfered with. Let's play it fair to all concerned.

Music Festival at Fish Creek Scheduled

Dr. Thor Johnson to Direct Programs
Featuring Guest Artists and Soloists

BY JACK RUDOLPH
Post-Crescent News Service

FISH CREEK — Music moves into the center spotlight here next Saturday through Aug. 23 when the Peninsula Arts Association presents its 12th annual music festival in Gribbair High School Auditorium. The series of programs will be under the baton of the founder-director of the Peninsula Music Festival—Dr. Thor Johnson.

The 1964 Festival will offer what can be described as a traditional format. On the foundation of his 40-piece Festival Orchestra, Dr. Johnson will present nine concerts, offering guest artists of international stature, soloists from the orchestra's own ranks and programs blending world premieres with masterpieces from the literature of three centuries.

Subscription concerts will be presented in three weekend pairs, plus Wednesday evening programs on Aug. 12 and 19. A special event will be the annual Young People's Concert on the afternoon of Tuesday, Aug. 11.

Saturday evening concerts are scheduled for Aug. 8, 15 and 22, with Sunday afternoon programs on Aug. 9, 10 and 23. Evening concerts will begin at 8 p.m., afternoon concerts at 3 p.m.

Again this year, as it has every summer since 1956, the National Federation of Music Clubs will recognize the Festival with three Official Days, Aug. 14, 15 and 16. High light of the visit will be the presentation of the Vera Wardner Dougan award to Pianist John Browning.

The award, named in honor of Mrs. Ronald A. Dougan of Beloit, past president of the Federation, is given each year to an outstanding American artist. Previous winners have been bass-baritone Donald Gramm in 1962 and soprano Shirley Verrett in 1963.

The Festival will also introduce two ensembles, the Soni Ventorum woodwind quintet from Puerto Rico and the Green Bay

Concert Choir under Russ Wido. The latter's appearance will be the first time an area non-professional group has sung here.

Musical milestones will include two world premieres, to bring the total of works heard here for the first time to 27; and two American premieres, to raise that category to 25.

Specially commissioned for this year's Festival are "Serenade to a Ballerina" by Heinz Roemheld and Cecil Eflinger's "Trio Concertante for Trumpet, Horn and Trombone."

Reports Indicate Viet Cong Reds Getting Stronger

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. intelligence reports indicate the Communist Viet Cong are stronger by 7,000 men since January despite South South Vietnamese estimates that put Red casualties at 10,000 in the same period. A U.S. military spokesman told newsmen today the Viet Cong's full-time fighting force now probably numbers between 28,000 and 34,000 with 60,000 to 80,000 more guerrillas under arms part of the time. However, the increase in Viet Cong figures could be partly due, the spokesman said, to impress intelligence. "A rapid, recent buildup of Viet Cong strength has not been demonstrated by our analysis," he said. About 30 per cent of the men assigned to newly organized Viet Cong units are infiltrators from North Viet Nam, he said. Since the Viet Cong organization began after the end of the Indochina War in 1944 an estimated 10,000 infiltrators have entered South Viet Nam at a continuing rate of between 1,000 and 2,000 a year.

Sat., Aug 1, 1964 Appleton Post-Crescent A7

Menasha Corp. Decision to Build on New Site Ends Historic Era on Island

Plant Constructed in 1849 on Menasha Branch of Fox River

MENASHA — Menasha Corp.'s decision to rebuild its fire-damaged corrugator plant on a new site in the Town of Neenah heralds an end to a long, historic association between the company and the spot where the burned-out building now stands.

Since its beginning in 1849, the site at the east tip of the narrow island in the Menasha branch of the Fox River had been the hub of the firm's operations — the hub from which the company expanded to states north, south, east and west.

Elisha D. Smith bought a small mill-making factory on the site in 1852, named it the Menasha Wooden Ware Co. and

Larry's Still Violating City Zoning Law

Building Inspector Makes Charge, But No Action Yet Taken

Larry's Ambulance Service still is in alleged violation of Appleton zoning ordinances. Building Inspector Charles Magnette said Friday.

Larry's, 116 S. Weimar St., and Lindy's Ambulance Service, 1825 S. Oneida St., have been under scrutiny by city officials in recent weeks in connection with alleged violations.

Magnette said Lindy's has been conforming to terms of the ordinance, but he said Larry's still was in violation for operating the business in an area zoned residential.

No Action Taken

Several weeks ago, the city council authorized the building inspector and city attorney to take legal action against the firms if they were found to be in violation. None so far has been taken.

A move several months ago to authorize immediate action against Larry's was amended when Ald. Al C. Fischer (15th) said it was unfair to single out one firm when the other also was believed to be in violation.

The council dropped the name of Larry's from the report and amended it so the building inspector and city attorney were directed to make an inspection of all ambulance services in the city to determine if their operations conformed to the zoning ordinance.

Magnette said he did not know if or when an action will be taken in connection with the alleged violation of Larry's Service. No action, he said, is planned against Lindy's.

Senators Hope TV Cleans Up Programming

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two senators on a subcommittee investigating juvenile delinquency said after a hearing on television programming that they hoped the industry would "clean up" present practices and avert what could become a great public outcry for federal action.

But both Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., the chairman, and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said they oppose government regulation of programming.

Dodd and Keating were among members of the Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency who watched monsters and murderers perform on the screen in a darkened hearing room Thursday.

Elephant Hide

Keating said that "as a politician I have as much of an elephant hide as anyone else," but that he still found some of the violence on television "hard to take."

By better policing, Keating said, the industry could head off what might develop into an "overwhelming outcry in favor of

Railroad Tracks Again Clear After Derailement

Valley Forge Jamboree Described by Boy Scout

BY BILL BENNETT

NEENAH — Valley Forge had not taken on the appearance of host to the Sixth National Boy Scout Jamboree when the Valley Council Jamboree Troop 73 arrived there July 16.

Here we were to receive billing as "The World's Smallest Paper Machine" as we demonstrated how to make paper using wood pulp, a pint size Mason jar, a piece of screening and blotting paper.

Troop 73, made up of 37 boys from Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, Little Chute, Kaukauna, Clintonville and Wittenberg and three leaders, erected 16 voyager tents, six wall tents and four kitchen flies in its 8,100 square foot designated area. The campsite was supplied with a display flagpole, four picnic tables and benches which the Scouts assembled, four tote boxes for carrying food from the commissary and the necessary water jugs, fire buckets, water buckets and garbage can.

Eight Boys

Each patrol in the troop had eight boys with two leaders as guests. All patrols cooked on charcoal stoves. Staple foods were issued upon arrival for the entire Jamboree period. Non-perishable food was issued once a day and perishable food was given out before each meal.

Half of the troop earned their points in Adventure Award competition. The activities included participation in field sports, a training visit to the conservation area, competition in scoutcraft activities and taking part in the skill-o-rama demonstrations. The skill-o-rama areas were the best attended by the 53,123 Boy Scouts from the 50 states and 42 foreign countries.

Tragic Close

Most scouts considered the obstacle course, which included scaling a 10 foot wall, swinging over a muddy moat with a rope, crawling through a dozen swinging tires and walking over a suspended ladder hand-over-hand the most difficult test.

A tragic close with the accidental death of Jay T. Leekley, Junior Assistant Scoutmaster, member of Troop 8, First Congregational Church, Appleton, July 23, lowered the spirits of all those in attendance at the Jamboree. Jay was a cheerful well-liked boy who always had only good to say about everyone and everything. For the boys in Troop 73, it was a long train ride home.

A reunion of the Jamboree Troop 73 will be held this fall.

Light Commission Meets Again Today on Power Generator Plan

Aldermen, Utility Officials Upset Over Rumor of Utility's Sale

MENASHA — Another meeting of the Menasha Water and Light Commission is being held today to determine specific action to alleviate future power failures of the type which hit Menasha early Friday morning.

Commissioners met in emergency session Friday afternoon to discuss possible methods to provide what Water and Light Supt. Thomas McGuire has called "additional insurance for Menasha residents."

No definite decisions were made at Friday's meeting, McGuire said. Engineers from the Chicago firm which designed the new steam plant addition are in Menasha today and will present their findings and recommendations at today's commission meeting.

Standby Generator

One likely proposal is the purchase of a standby generator designed solely for emergency purposes. The steam plant currently relies on an 850-kilowatt standby generator at the Menasha water plant for emergency purposes.

McGuire said "prohibitive costs" prevent the commission from securing an emergency tie-in with private power companies of the government doing something.

Dodd said he agreed and added: "That's the purpose of these hearings — there isn't any other."

Dodd told industry witnesses that he had received heavy mail from parents who object to the content of programs watched by children and teen-agers.

"I don't think you care," he said. "But unless you do care the American people are going to make you care."

Thomas W. Moore, American Broadcasting Co. vice president, protested that scenes shown at Louis Broido, New York commissioner of commerce and industry, were taken out of context and were not necessarily representative.

Moore insisted that the industry "can and does police itself."

With Its School Building program completed, St. Mary, Menasha, is concentrating this summer on grounds beautification. Kathy Hermus is watering newly planted shrubs on the north side of the building's Third Street entrance. The Rev. Donald Stoegbauer, administrator of the school, has prepared a schedule for long range grounds keeping, dividing the work among eight retired men in the parish. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Youthful Canoeists Paddle Into Town

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A pair of latter-day canoe voyageurs — one bearded and one almost so — swept into Appleton Tuesday on a double-day halt for rest and provisions. They are en route in an 80-pound fibre glass canoe, and bound for the Gulf of Mexico 2,000 miles from home.

Departing from Lake Michigan, George Swenson of Houghton, and James Phillips of Urbana, Ill., are on a work-and-paddle schedule. Both 20 and both students at the University of Illinois, they departed on their river-lake journey with only $8 a month ago. They stop from time to time and seek work to supplement their small capital.

"We washed the ceiling in a tavern in Oconto," they said, "and here and there we do some work for food," said Swenson, a sombre-eyed fellow with a beard which in a month of traveling is, at least, glorious.

His canoe partner, equipped with a minor goatee-type of adornment, said that he is raising it "just so that I have something tangible to show for the trip."

The route to the sea has, so far, taken the young men down the Michigan River to the Brule, down the Brule to the Menominee and down the Menominee to Marinette.

Big water and waves ahead caused the duo "a lot of trouble on Green Bay, so they paddled for shore and dragged their canoe along the shoreline "almost all the way," said Swenson, "from Marinette to Green Bay," a 60-mile paddle-wade.

Hand-Built Canoe

The 16-foot canoe, hand-built by Swenson, has proven somewhat frail and has suffered more than its share of punctures in the river rapids of the Michigan, but the young men have managed to keep it patched and afloat. Total weight of gear and canoe, they estimated, is 300 pounds.

The voyageurs who made camp where late leads them, spent

Monday night slumbering on the porch at the home of lock-master Robert Christianson at Appleton's third river lock. Tuesday they hoped to make camp somewhere on the shores of Lake Winnebago before they paddle on to Oshkosh.

The month-long journey from Michigan to Wisconsin is, they admitted, "pretty much time." But they pointed out that they spend time in cities and villages making friends and looking for jobs.

Visit in Clintonville

From Appleton they hitch-hiked to Clintonville to visit Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Manderfield, who are kin to Swenson. The canoeists spent the night there and returned to Appleton Monday.

Adventures have come to them too, they reported. At Bull Rapids in the Brule, they hedged down for the night below the dam of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co., and when they awakened in the morning "the river was gone," they said. The dam had been closed and the water drained out of the riverbed. The canoeists once again became pedestrians. They dragged their canoe down the empty riverbed until they came to water two or three miles below the dam.

The long way ahead, still more than 1,500 miles to the Gulf, will be taken in minor jumps, the young canoeists said. They decline to use a schedule and they will arrive when they get there. Broadest prediction for arrival time is "some time late this Autumn."

Pioneer Route

They will paddle the Fox, Lake Winnebago, the upper Fox to the portage at Portage, Wis., where they will move into the Wisconsin River and then to the Mississippi River. That leg of their journey was pioneered by Marquette and Joliet, discoverers of the Mississippi in 1673.

Still firm in their resolve to make the long remaining journey, the young men nevertheless looked excessively tired and worn from the journey up to this point.

"We'll make it all right," said Phillips. And here's one who hopes that they will indeed.

Hotel Athearn In Oshkosh To be Razed

New American Bank Purchases Property For Its Expansion

OSHKOSH — Purchase of the famed Hotel Athearn was announced today by the New American Bank of Oshkosh. The 73-year-old structure will be torn down and the site used for a new bank building. No purchase price was given.

The New American Bank, founded in 1890, is located on N. Main Street, only a block from the hotel. Drive-in facilities of the bank are next to the hotel annex.

Announcement of the pending sale of the hotel was made several weeks ago when the few remaining tenants were notified they had to move by yesterday.

In a letter which went out to bank stockholders Friday announcing the purchase, the board of directors noted the bank's growth over the last 20 years "demonstrates how urgently we have needed additional facilities." The directors reported visits to recently constructed banks showed that adequate customer parking is a present day requisite.

The Hotel Athearn was one of the showplaces of the Midwest when it opened in 1881. The list of political and theatrical notables who have stayed at the hotel and dined in the famed English room reads like a Who's Who.

No plans have been announced for start of construction of the new bank building, but demolition of the Athearn is expected to begin at the end of this month.

Oshkosh Man Has Broken Breastbone From Car Accident

GREEN BAY — An Oshkosh man was in satisfactory condition at St. Vincent Hospital this morning, a few hours after his vehicle struck a tree along a curve at Orphanage Hill in Allouez.

Timothy E. Welch, 21, suffered a fractured breastbone, and severe cuts to both legs, scalp, back and chest. He initially was reported in critical condition as the result of shock, but hospital authorities said he came out of the shock after his admission and his condition improved.

County officers said Welch, traveling north on State 57, failed to negotiate the curve at the base of the hill, located about a half mile south of Green Bay. The car struck a tree, then spun back across the highway, narrowly missing a utility pole. Police said he apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Trane Company's Profits, Sales Up

Consolidated sales and profits for the first half of 1964 were well ahead of the same period in 1963, according to the Trane Company, La Crosse, Wis., manufacturing engineers of air conditioning, heating, ventilating and heat transfer equipment.

The six month period ending June 30, 1964, resulted in sales of $63,919,159 and a net profit of $4,509,634 compared with 1963 figures of $57,354,816 and $3,605,610 respectively. This is an increase of 13 per cent in sales and a 25 per cent improvement in profit.

Trial Set for Man on Disorderly Conduct

KAUKAUNA — Gary Vanevenhoven, 23, 604 Meade St., pleaded innocent of disorderly conduct charges Thursday. He appeared in Kaukauna Municipal Justice Court.

Justice Oscar Jahns set trial for Aug. 14 in justice court. Vanevenhoven was arrested Sunday night after allegedly being in a fight at the Chicago and North Western Railway switchyards here. The other man involved in the fight pleaded guilty in an earlier appearance.

Travelers in Waupaca, Outagamie Counties, Are Problems for Elderly

Rural Clintonville Man Says $40 Sewn Into Shirt Stolen by Members of Transient Band

WAUPACA — Travelers roaming Waupaca and Outagamie counties, preying on older persons, continue to create problems for sheriff department authorities.

In Waupaca County, a second case of a person being bilked out of money has been reported to Sheriff Loren Frazier. A rural Clintonville man told authorities the transients came to his farm and during a conversation they learned he had some money sewn into his shirt. Mayor Denies Charges of Appleton Taxpayer Group

Mitchell Says Accusations in Letter From Gerhard Willecke, Wrong

A claim by the Appleton Taxpayers Association that its representatives have been banned from alleged closed-door council meetings was termed "without foundation" Friday by Mayor Clarence Mitchell.

The complaint was contained in a letter sent to the mayor Thursday by Gerhard Willecke, president of the taxpayers' group. He claimed there were instances when association representatives were not permitted at committee of the whole meetings but did not document the incidents.

"The activities of my office and the common council are wide open to the public and always have been," commented Mitchell, who returned Thursday night from Miami, Fla., where he attended the American Municipal Association convention, serving on the group's Airport Legislation Committee.

Mayor Mitchell said Willecke's claim was without foundation and expressed surprise at receiving the letter.

"To the best of my knowledge the council has never gone into a committee of the whole in which they (representatives of the Taxpayers Association) were banned," Mitchell said.

"In fact, most of the council's committee of the whole sessions have been held right out on the council floor," Mitchell added. Mitchell did recall that once during the past three years—during last year's budget deliberations, to be exact—the council did hold an executive session to discuss a personnel matter involving a department head.

"(This is mandatory under the law unless the person being discussed asks that the meeting be opened. The council may also hold executive sessions when real estate matters are being deliberated.)"

Open Meetings "When we do hold committee of the whole meetings," which enables the council to discuss matters informally, the press, radio, department heads and some citizens are usually in or around the room," Mitchell said.

"Any business transacted at committee of the whole meetings is reported out on the council floor so that everything is a matter of public record," Mitchell added.

Mitchell said he would continue to favor and follow the law in holding executive sessions when city employees are being discussed. "Whether its good or bad, we shouldn't talk about our personnel in public," Mitchell said. "They are entitled to that courtesy."

Mitchell received a telephone call from Willecke this morning and told him that no association members had ever been banned from a meeting.

Willecke indicated that he did not want his letter released and made public prior to the mayor arriving back in the city to see it first.

Willecke informed Mitchell he had requested newspaper and radio reporters not to make the contents of the letter public until he (Mitchell) had a chance to read it.

"Everything is wide open in my office," Mitchell said. "Every document and letter that comes to my office is public unless it is of a personal nature."

"I have always operated my office that way and will continue to do so because it is public information," Mitchell added.

Mitchell said association representatives could attend any council meetings they wanted. And, Willecke informed the mayor that, "There really isn't any problem."

Mitchell agreed to send the association a letter clarifying the council's position on meetings.
